

AUâ€™s Packaging Industry Stays Strong, PAKSMART Helps Keep Up with Demand

Date : Jan 13, 2018

Economic experts say that Australiaâ€™s packaging industry is seeing steady growth. PAKSMART helps businesses keep up with the demand by providing an array of top-grade packaging solutions.

[NORTH ROCKS, 13/01/2018] - Market insight reports revealed that Australiaâ€™s packaging industry is growing and showing no signs of slowing down.

PAKSMART helps businesses keep up with the demand through their range of high-quality packaging solutions.

Consistent Growth in the Packaging Industry

The packaging services industry in Australia has managed to rise above in spite of poor upstream manufacturing conditions. A report released by IBISWorld shows that the industry has performed well in the past five years, with experts tying the success to the growth of the domestic manufacturing sector.

Together, New South Wales, Victoria and Queensland account for more than 80% of the industryâ€™s enterprises. Manufacturing companies are major market players, and trends follow their distribution activities. With Victoria and New South Wales being traditional manufacturing states and home to some of the countryâ€™s busiest container and general cargo ports, packaging enterprises around these areas also attract wholesalers.

Experts predict that the industryâ€™s revenue will reach $4.2 billion by the end of 2017.

Staying On Top of Demand

PAKSMART is an Australian manufacturing company that specialises in the development and manufacturing of top-grade machinery that automates carton-packaging processes.
