Website Feedback Tool BugRem Helps Address and Fix Website Bug Issues Easily

Date : Apr 16, 2018

A small and lightweight website feedback tool, BugRem Helps site owners to address and fix bug issues in their websites easily.

Scotts Valley, CA (April 16, 2018) - Website errors are often the cause for site crashes, making users drift to some other website. BugRem is designed to prevent this from happening due to bugs. It is a small code snippet of JavaScript that can track bugs and make sure that current processes can manage all the feedbacks that need to be addressed.

This Website Feedback Tool helps customers to submit feedbacks and reports about bugs with associated screenshots directly from any browser, such as Firefox or Chrome, without requiring any other plugin.

It can help business or website owners get complete feedbacks from users / customers with screenshots of website pages, their operating system, the browser that they are using, collected HTML and JavaScript errors and more. Users can also mark sections of the site and post queries that describe the problem more accurately.

Customer feedbacks are important for businesses, and especially when it comes to understanding where websites are underperforming or hampering the user experience. BugRem brings problems to instant notice. It can save a lot of time for website owners in understanding the underlying problem in their websites, and in making the necessary fixes and improvements.

About Bugrem:
A website visitor feedback tool, BugRem is a small JavaScript code snippet that is designed to boost the overall customer satisfaction for businesses by gathering feedbacks and having them arranged into suitable test reports.
