IT Mailing Contacts announced the discharge of new Gigabit Multimedia Serial Link Technology (GMSL) Users Email list to target all the Software users listing to make a successful advertising and marketing campaign.

Gigabit multimedia serial link (GMSL) solution serializes digital video and audio data across a single twisted-pair cable. In addition, an integrated bidirectional control channel enables a single microcontroller (µC) to program the serializer, deserializer, and all connected peripherals. For typical applications, this eliminates the remote-side microcontroller and its support components, such as a clock source/crystal and a low-voltage power supply. This not only simplifies the design of the remote device, but also reduces the cost, size, and power consumption as well.
