[PHILIPPINES, 12/21/2017] - Cavite Properties publishes listings and reviews to help Filipino families looking for a new home. It zeroes in on relevant information, like prices, features, and communities to give its visitors a complete picture of the property without having to visit the physical site. The company assists Filipinos who want to settle in Cavite, a growing real estate hot spot in the country.

Cavite's Growth

The center of Manila, while a hub for employers and employees, is also polluted, has heavy traffic, and overcrowded. As a result, people are looking for less congested living space alternatives. Fatima Olivares-Vital, business unit head of Ovioland Incorporated, states that South Luzon, which covers Laguna, Batangas, and Cavite, is a lucrative market for real estate.

Cavite, in particular, boasts a huge prospect for growth. In fact, Megaworld Corporation plans to build a new business district in Maple Grove Township, General Trias by 2022. Meanwhile, Ayala Land Inc. also plans to establish a separate business district called "Evo City" in Kawit by 2020. These developments will provide more jobs in the province.

Furthermore, the province also foresees sustained tourism growth. In 2015, about 4.1 million tourists visited Cavite, and officials hope it breaches the five-million mark. Tagaytay City leads the province's tourist spots.

Proximity to leisure hubs, paired with abundant job opportunities, makes Cavite an attractive place to start a home.
